PROJECT

Prevention Of Felling And Trafficking Of Trees

Nowadays precious trees are being illegally cut and trafficked for business purpose as such there is no efficient way to countermeasure this problem. With this thought I constructed a device which could help act as a countermeasure. My device consists of battery backup, a gps, a transmitter and a receiver, three sensors namely thermal, noise and vibration sensors. Each sensors have predetermined values which act as threshold and upon passing these values from the site a signal is sent from transmitter to receiver thus informing of the situation at the site to the forest department.
